

38.04.01 Economics Master's Degree program Regional economy and management of regional development
Theories of regional economics 2 ECTS
Course/semester	Master's degree program, 1/1
Teaching staff	Assistant professor, Ph.D. in Economics N.V. Bozo
Learning outcomes	The aim of the discipline is to improve the students' knowledge about alternative directions of regional directions, to learn the basic conceptions and differences of main directions of the regional economics, as well as its methods. The understanding of this discipline is necessary for further learning of the economic theory in its interaction with issues of economic policy.
Content	Neoclassical theory of the regional economy. Неоклассические теории cumulating theories of the regional economy. New theories of the regional policy. New forms of the territorial management. Other theories: theory of export base, theory of economic base, staple theory, theory of sectors, , theory of flexible specialization, model of manufacturing locations.
Background knowledge requirements	Regional economics, institutional economics, economics of the social sector
Course structure	Lectures–18, test, independent work – 54 h. Total -72 h.
Final assessment – examination	Point rating system: 0–49 fail; 50–100 pass. 80% – semester work, 20% –pass/fail test.
Organization peculiarities of educational process and educational resources	Active methods of teaching: work in small groups, topic discussions, case-studies, exercises, tests, educational movies. Test is performed in writing during the individual work.  The educational resources: 1. Granberg A. G. Osnovy regional'noy ekonomiki : uch. dlya vuzov. – 2-e izd. – M. : GU VShE, 2001. – 495 s. 2. Kuznetsova O. V. Ekonomicheskoe razvitie regionov: teoreticheskoe i prakticheskoe aspekty gosudarstvennogo regulirovaniya. – M. : Editorial URSS, 2002. – 309 s. 3. Suspitsyn S. A. Issledovaniya territorial'nykh sistem // Region : ekonomika i sotsiologiya. – 2008. – №2. – S. 20 – 48.